

Newbie Questions? No Problem!

Do you have any questions that I can help you with?

So you are not sure what a gigabit is? How much or what MPS is? Or perhaps what 1U means? The thing is, you don't want to sound stupid but you would really like to have your own server in a dedicated facility right? This time you have stopped by the right place.

Call us via our support messenger above or free on 0800 9 336 336 We will talk you through what you need to know, give you advice and help you make the decisions you need to make. We will even help you set up and configure your website or server in order to get you going if you wish.

If you would like this help, it is all part of our service, we are willing to help and happy to. there are no hidden charges when you become a customer like with some companies so give us a call!
